

Comfort & Savings

With Riv Heating Installations

Canadian Winters (even the milder ones) still require a fair bit of heat to keep us comfortable. Yet staying comfortable without watching your gas bill skyrocket seems like a tough juggling act. I learned it doesn't have to be from Ronald Rivard, Owner of Riv Heating Installations.

Ron and his team focus on providing the highest quality heating, ventilation and cooling equipment available on the market and they back it up with superior bilingual personalized customer service. As a qualified heating and cooling technician with over 15 years experience, Ron can provide you, as part of his service, a heating, cooling, and ventilation consultation to guide you in improving your home comfort. He will also ensure that you save energy and money, as well as taking advantage of the various energy star saving rebates available. Ron showed me how I can save up to $675 by installing a new and more energy efficient gas furnace, central air and a new programmable thermostat that will fulfill my needs better and save me money on my gas and electrical bill as well.

From fireplaces to furnaces to hot water tanks and humidifiers, make sure you and your family have a safe and comfortable winter by talking with Riv Heating Installations about updating or improving your home's heating, ventilation and cooling.
